According to Tanveer (2019), dialogue is the most logical and well-supported method for enhancing students' speaking abilities at the high school level. The primary goal of the study is to determine the breadth of students' speaking abilities through dialogues. People all throughout the world use language as a tool to communicate with one another. We are foreigners studying English. The use of conversation can help students' speaking abilities for a number of reasons. According to Praygo (2016), dialogue is a great technique to encourage students to practice speaking the target language without reluctance and to be able to comprehend a range of contexts. It implies that pupils can enhance their ability to speak in a target language through discussion. The purpose of conversation is to aid. The purpose of dialogue in an EFL classroom is to assist students in improving their conversational abilities. One of the most significant benefits is that learners can increase their confidence in speaking English, which many students find difficult. When using dialogue to improve speaking abilities, vocabulary is a crucial component². For example, the student with a greater vocabulary will be more comfortable speaking in class dialogues than the student with a smaller vocabulary. Every conversation is significant and pertinent to the circumstances of the average student's day. The situation will be crucial in helping the pupils develop their speaking abilities through dialogue. Students are expected to do better in speaking classes by engaging in discussions. Students can read and write fluently in this method. The classroom environment can be improved through dialogue, and it can also help pupils feel more confident. This may help inspire and pique the kids' interest in the English language. Students struggle and hesitate when speaking English, especially at the high secondary level, even when they are familiar with the terminology. The biggest issue is that we are foreigners learning English and lack speaking confidence and fluency. The use of dialogue by language learners increases their vocabulary, intonation, and stress in spoken English. Discussions of significant subjects are facilitated by dialogue amongst participants. The atmosphere can be relaxed by conversation. It provides a method for exploring ideas and explains how to manage and overwhelmed student's poor English communication skills. According to Tsou (2005), students can improve their speaking abilities as foreign English language learners in the classroom by engaging in discourse. Through conversation, students can benefit from one another's perspectives because they can understand how others think.³ New ways for enhancing speaking abilities should be developed because they will benefit both students and teachers. The use of dialogue by language learners increases their vocabulary, intonation, and stress in spoken English. Talking causes people to sit A communication strategy called dialogue enables students to comprehend opposing points of view without interrupting. It can foster improved communication and more inventive teamwork among various social groupings. If the students and teachers practice dialogue successfully, it will become a more valued technique. Tanveer (2019) recommends that teachers utilize sound procedures and creative exercises to improve their students' speaking talents. The most crucial language skill is speaking. Speaking is a difficult ability to perfect, especially for those learning a foreign language, therefore learners should develop a friendly relationship with it. According to Razduan (2018), speaking for foreign learners is frequently challenging and hard to understand, especially when done orally. Dialogue practice in the classroom can help to solve this issue. This may boost a learner's desire to learn the English language. The fundamental goal of discourse is to get past the challenges we confront as international students. The findings of the study show that dialogues are a successful tactic for resolving issues that foreign language learners face. Speaking abilities are crucial because they enable communication and connect people around the world. When speaking abilities are strong, communicating is simpler and easier. Since English is an international language, it is important for us to develop our speaking abilities as foreign students. The development of learners' speaking abilities involves a variety of tactics. Teachers should work closely with students to help them develop their confidence so they can speak English with no reservations. In order to complete this duty, teachers hold a range of seminars and interviews in which each student takes part on their own and learns a great deal.
